Speech-Language-Hearing Clinic

The Speech-Language-Hearing Clinic is located within the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders and is housed in the McGowan Center at Marywood University. It currently has eight therapy rooms and two diagnostic rooms, which all have audio-visual monitoring capabilities for parents, caregivers, and clinical supervisors.

Services provided at the clinic include evaluations and treatment for both children and adults in the areas of:

- Accent Modification
- Aphasia
- Apraxia/Dyspraxia
- Articulation
- Cognition
- Dysarthria
- Fluency
- Hearing Impairments
- Language
- Phonology
- Voice

Referral and Evaluation

Parents, professionals from other agencies, physicians, teachers, or psychologists may contact the clinic to refer an individual for an evaluation of speech, language, and/or hearing abilities. Initial contact will be made with the clinic director, who will speak with the referral source, obtain the client's identifying information, and schedule an initial evaluation, if necessary. If services are warranted following the evaluation, a therapy schedule will be established.

Speech and Language Services

Our clinic provides both individual and group therapy sessions for speech, language, and related disorders. Other services include a child articulation/language play group and an adult aphasia language group. All services related to speech and language are provided by undergraduate seniors and graduate student clinicians who work in conjunction with PA licensed and ASHA certified speech-language pathologists, who serve as clinical supervisors.

Audiology Services

Our PA licensed and ASHA certified audiologists schedule and complete basic diagnostic and central auditory processing evaluations within our on-campus audiological suite. Hearing aid consultations, fittings, and maintenance are also services that the clinic provides. Currently, assistive listening devices are available to lend to individuals in the community. The equipment can be used on a trial basis with the option to purchase. Clinical staff or supervised students will demonstrate and explain all assistive listening devices to fit the needs of the individual.

Community Services

In keeping with the Marywood University tradition, the Speech-Language-Hearing Clinic participates in several community-based services, including:

- Head Start Speech, Language, and Hearing Screenings
- Day Care Center Speech, Language, and Hearing Screenings
- Community Health Fairs
- Occupational Health and Safety Fairs
- Speakers' Bureau for Communication-related Issues
- Assistive Listening Device Program

If you would like the clinic to assist your business or community with any of the above mentioned services, please contact:
Andrea M. Novak, MA, CCC-SLP
Clinic Director
(570)348-6299, ext. 5

Clinic Fees

Modest fees are charged for diagnostic evaluations as well as individual and group sessions. The fee for the diagnostic evaluation is paid at the time of service, and therapy services are billed on a monthly basis. The clinic has contracts with several third-party payers. Contact should be made with the clinic director to determine if coverage is available.
