DEAR FRIENDS,

Marywood University has had a busy, productive year!

Most notably, we committed significant resources to create a new School of Architecture—the first to open in northeast Pennsylvania. In keeping with the University’s tradition of educating students to live responsibly in an interdependent world, the Marywood University School of Architecture has been created to produce a new generation of architects—environmental stewards who will assume major responsibility for the built environment of the region, the nation, and the world.

Marywood University Architecture students pursue coursework that prepares them for the LEED Professional Accreditation exam. LEED—Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design—is a rating system developed by the Green Building Council to encourage the global adoption of sustainable green building and development practices by architects. Marywood University is a proud member of the Green Building Council.

In keeping with this spirit of sustainable progress, we decided to once again produce a “green” President’s Report—a solely online piece—to reduce our use of paper products and take another positive step in our ongoing efforts to cultivate and practice environmental stewardship. Marywood University continues to evaluate its current practices and engage in future initiatives with environmental considerations in mind, for the benefit of our students, our campus, our community, and our world.

I am deeply grateful for all you have done to advance the goals, initiatives, and mission of Marywood University. Our progress is a source of great optimism and abundant hope. May we continue, together, to enthusiastically meet the challenges of our time, recognizing the significant impact that our efforts make on the education of our students, now and in the years to come.

Sincerely,

Sister Anne Munley, IHM
President of the University
MARYWOOD UNIVERSITY HIGHLIGHTS

The 2008-2009 academic year began with nearly 1,200 new students from 24 states and 8 countries, bringing the Marywood University student body to 2,085 undergraduates and 1,285 graduate students for a total of 3,370 students—the majority of whom were full-time. The incoming freshmen hailed from 235 different high schools, and transfer students came from 62 different colleges or universities. During 2008-2009, there were more than 950 students residing on Marywood’s campus.

As part of Marywood’s mission to challenge students to broaden their understanding of global issues, the powerful and renowned play, Speak Truth to Power, was presented on campus following the Fall 2008 Academic Convocation. The play was a re-enactment of the testimony given by human rights victims across the globe.

Two faculty members were honored during the Fall 2008 Academic Convocation for the distinctive service and commitment to scholarship in their respective disciplines. Susan M. Perlis, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Education, was recognized as Marywood’s 2008 CASE Professor of the Year, while David J. Palminter, Ph.D., Professor of Psychology, merited the Distinction in Discipline Award.

Marywood University welcomed international delegates to the Interparliamentary Conference on Human Rights and Religious Freedom, held on campus November 23-25, 2008. Delegates, representing parliaments from around the globe, discussed ways to implement legislation in their nations to support human rights affected by a wide spectrum of issues, including environmental protection, extremism, counterterrorism, sovereignty, and religious freedom.

The science department was awarded a $157,525 grant from Sanofi Pasteur, Inc. The grant will be used to purchase a Liquid Chromatograph-Mass Spectrometer (LC-MS) instrument. The LC-MS is a hybrid mass spectrometer for biomarker discovery, metabolite identification, and proteomics research. This particular instrument will be used primarily for student and faculty research to enhance undergraduate and graduate programs in biotechnology. Previously, Sanofi Pasteur, Inc. awarded Marywood’s science department $100,000 to construct a new Biotechnology laboratory.

Marywood University was included on The Princeton Review’s annual list of best schools. Marywood also was recognized by the publication on the “Stone-Cold Sober Schools” list, as a university where alcohol and drugs are rarely used.
On October 22, 2008, the Board of Trustees approved a measure to establish the region’s first School of Architecture at Marywood University. The School of Architecture, guided by Founding Dean Gregory K. Hunt, FAIA, opened at the start of the fall semester in 2009 and welcomed 52 new Architecture majors and 23 new Interior Architecture majors—nearly triple the original target of 20 architecture majors. In keeping with the University’s tradition of educating students to live responsibly in an interdependent world, the Marywood University School of Architecture was created to produce a new generation of architects—environmental stewards who will assume major responsibility for the built environment of the region, the nation, and the world. Marywood University Architecture students will pursue coursework preparing them for the LEED Professional Accreditation exam.

LEED—Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design—is a rating system developed by the Green Building Council to encourage the global adoption of sustainable green building and development practices by architects. Marywood University is a member of the Green Building Council.

Marywood University’s Nursing Department was awarded $150,000 grant from the Pennsylvania Department of Education Higher Education Assistance program for the Preparing Tomorrow’s Nurses project. The purpose of the Preparing Tomorrow’s Nurses project is to increase the number of BSN students who graduate, successfully pass the NCLEX examination, and join the workforce as competent entry-level graduate nurses.

Sister Mariam Pfeifer, IHM, Professor and Director of the Music Therapy Program, received the 2008 Honorary Life Membership Award at the 10th Annual Music Therapy Association National Conference on November 20, 2008, in St. Louis, MO. The award is given to an individual with distinguished service in the field of music therapy.

The Corporation for National and Community Service honored Marywood University with a place on the President’s Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll for exemplary service efforts and service to America’s communities.

Dr. James Smoliga, Assistant Professor of Exercise Physiology, College of Health and Human Services, was awarded a research contract with Naturex, Inc. for $155,000 to study the effects of polyphenol supplementation on oxidative stress and physiologic performance in endurance athletes. The study is part of an ongoing collaboration between Dr. Smoliga and Joe Maroon, M.D., Pittsburgh Steelers neurosurgeon. Research was conducted in Marywood’s Human Physiology Lab, under the direction of Kenneth W. Rundell, Ph.D., FACSM, Professor of Health Science and Director of Respiratory Research and the Human Physiology Laboratory.
Marywood University celebrated its 91st annual commencement on May 10, 2009, with the awarding of 881 degrees to graduates from the Reap College of Education and Human Development, Insalaco College of Creative Arts and Management, College of Health and Human Services, and College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. Norah O’Donnell, the chief Washington correspondent for NBC News’ 24-hour cable channel MSNBC and a contributing correspondent for NBC’s top-rated Today show, addressed the graduates as the keynote speaker. Honorary degrees were bestowed on Sister Adrian Barrett, IHM, and the Honorable James M. Munley. The ceremony was held at Wachovia Arena in Wilkes-Barre, PA.

Varsity athletics at Marywood University enjoyed an outstanding year. A record-setting 12 of 14 varsity teams qualified for postseason play. Marywood’s women’s soccer team celebrated victory as the 2008 Colonial State Athletic Conference Champions—marking the team’s first ever championship season. In addition, the team qualified for its first NCAA Tournament berth.

Exceptional academic performance was recognized when 37 student-athletes were inducted as Pacer Scholar-Athletes in the fall; this foremost award is earned by student-athletes with a 3.5 cumulative GPA and their coach’s endorsement of exemplary qualities as team members; strong academic performance continued a well-established tradition as 55 (50% of all fall sports athletes) were named to the Colonial States Athletic Conference (CSAC) academic honor role (3.2 GPA minimum) for the spring semester.

The first wedding ever celebrated at the Marian Chapel was held on November 15, 2008, when alumni Meredith Force ’04 and James Cozzarelli ’05 were united in marriage.

A partnership between Marywood University and the Intermediate Unit 19 created a campus-based transition program for students with autism that has transformed the college experience for four special students. Students on Campus Achieving Results (SOAR) is a learning environment where students spend half their day in the classroom and the other half in vocational training on campus. The University and the IU 19 hope to expand the program nationwide.

The first Volunteer Leadership Summit was held on campus at the end of June 2009. Co-chaired by Thom Sueta ’92 and Barbara Spellman-Shuta ’68, the event was planned, organized, and presented by alumni volunteers. The goal of the summit was to teach busy alumni how to maximize their volunteer opportunities and impact.
